U. S. STRIKE CRISIS: THREATS OF VIOLENCE

H.K. CABARET LICENCES

REGULATIONS AT LAST ISSUED

THE MIDNIGHT CLOSURE

MEASURES OF CONTROL

After several months of waiting, a Bill designed to licence dancing halls, which includes the present cabarets and dancing academies of the Colony, has materialised.

It is published in draft form in the Government Gazette to-day as an Ordinance to consolidate and amend the law relating to miscellaneous licences.

In this Ordinance "Public dance hall" means any place opened, kept or used for the purpose of dancing to which the general public are admitted with or without payment for admission, unless such place be a place of public entertainment licensed as such under the Places of Public Entertainment Regulation Ordinance, 1919.

Among the most significant features of the conditions relating to dancing halls is the provision that the licensing authority may, in his discretion, for any particular occasion, extend the hours prescribed to the licence.

Except with the written permission of the licensing authority endorsed on the licence, the licensee shall not transfer, lend or hire his licence to any person; allow the premises to be used for dancing except between the hours of 12 noon and 12 midnight.

This gives the Inspector General of Police power to state whatever other hours of opening he considers fit.

SURVEILLANCE.

That the authorities intend to maintain strict surveillance of dancing halls is indicated by the provisions, which require that a licensee of a public dancing hall shall employ only such assistants as the licensing authority may approve, that a register shall be kept at the dancing hall in which shall be entered the names, age, sex, nationality, birthplace and place of residence in the Colony of every dancing partner and other person employed, as well as a photograph of every dancing partner and other employees.

NO LIQUORS.

No person under the age of 16 shall be employed or permitted to dance in the premises, and except during the hours prescribed in the conditions of the licence, the public shall be excluded from the premises.

No intoxicating liquors shall be sold or consumed in the premises, except in accordance with the terms of a valid licence.

The licensee is expected to maintain good order in the premises by refusing to permit:

Any profanity or impropriety of language;

Any indecency of dress, dance or gesture;

Any offensive personalities or representations of living persons or anything calculated to produce riot or breach of the peace;

Any drunkenness or other disorderly conduct;

Any unlawful game; or Any persons of notoriously bad character to assemble and meet together.

Conditions for fire appliances and escapes, proper exits, and complete measures for hygienic conditions are also provided.

Temporary and annual licences can be taken out, the fee for the former being $20 and for the latter $120.

TYPHOON NORTH OF MANILA

Likely to Enter China Sea To-night

The possibility of cyclonic disturbances in the China Sea is envisaged by the Royal Observatory. The typhoon is about 150 miles N.N.E. of Manila, moving W.N.W. and may pass into the China Sea to-night.

Its general direction at the moment would take it near, but south of the Colony.

LORD MERRIVALE RETIRES

BRITAIN'S NEW DIVORCE JUDGE

BOYD MERRIMAN APPOINTED

London, Sept. 30.
The King has approved that Sir Frank Boyd Merriman, the Solicitor-General, be appointed President of the Probate, Divorce and Admiralty Division of the High Court in place of Lord Merrivale, who has resigned.

His Majesty has also approved that Mr. Donald Somervell, M.P., be appointed Solicitor-General in succession to Sir Boyd Merriman and that the honour of Knighthood be conferred upon him on his appointment.

Lord Merrivale is 78 years old and has been President of the Divorce Court since 1919.

Sir Boyd Merriman was for eight years Recorder of Bristol. He took silk in 1919, after fifteen years at the Bar.

Sir Donald Somervell is the member for Crews. He is a K.C. and a Fellow of All Souls. He contested Crewe in 1929 and won the seat at the 1931 election.—British Wire-

HAVANA BLOODSHED

GENERAL STRIKE PROCLAIMED

"SOVIET PARTY" ACTIVE

TROOPS FIRE ON DEMONSTRATORS

Havana, Sept. 29.

Havana was to-day almost in a state of war, the political situation having grown alarmingly more serious in the last twenty-four hours.

The atmosphere is tense as the result of strike agitation by the so-called Soviet Party, organised by two Russian delegates.

Business in Havana was to-day virtually paralysed by a one-day general strike.

Soldiers were active all day. They fired on Communist demonstrators, three being killed and eleven wounded.

STUDENTS ASSIST.

The strikers were reinforced by a band of students, armed with machine guns, and later the cavalry were called out and are trying the clear the street in which the Communist headquarters are to be found.

The Presidential palace is heavily guarded.

Armed students are assisting the army and there has been considerable shooting in the district where a good many of the American community reside.

The strikers are getting increasingly out of hand. They are planning to cause a general stoppage of trade and to take over the sugar mills which the Government is not able to protect.—
Reuter.

AMERICANS PREPARED.

All American citizens in Cuba have received instructions to concentrate on the coasts of the island in order to be ready to be aboard warships if necessity arises. A British light cruiser is standing by ready to aid a number of British subjects who, together with a large number of Americans, are in danger as a result of the increasing strike wave throughout the country.

The American destroyer Hamilton is standing by to take aboard sixteen Britons and Americans who are virtually besieged by strikers in North Oriente. Cuban Government troops have been sent to various localities with all possible speed in an attempt to suppress the strikers but, since the Cuban regime can spare only 8,000 troops it is almost impossible for it to give protection to all sugar refineries.

CHINESE PROTECTION.

Nanking, Sept. 30.
According to a message from Cuba, the Chinese Consul-General at Havana has made arrangements with the American diplomatic authorities for the protection of Chinese in the event that local political developments constitute a danger to the life of Chinese.

It has been arranged that the Chinese at Havana can be placed at a concentration camp under the protection of American marines if the situation warrants.—Central News Agency.

STATE LOTTERIES

SUCCESS OF FRENCH FLOTATION

AUSTRIA PLANS BIG ISSUE

London, Sept. 29.
It is becoming fashionable in Europe to improve budgets by the flotation of State lotteries.

Encouraged by the success which has attended the big French State Lottery, Dr. Dollfuss, the Austrian Chancellor, has announced the impending issue of a Lottery Loan.

The loan will be one of three hundred million shillings and will bear interest at the rate of four per cent. plus handsome prizes.

The French enterprise is expected to total a milliard francs, which sixty per cent. will be distributed in prizes, the remainder going to swell the revenue.—Reuter.

It is ordered under the Rating Ordinance that a valuation of the tenements in the Colony for the year commencing 1st July, 1934, shall be made before the 30th day April, 1934, or as soon thereafter as may be.

FAR EAST MONROE DOCTRINE

SIGNIFICANT STATEMENT BY MR. CHANG TSO-PIN

Shanghai, Sept. 30.

In an interview with pressmen, Mr. Chiang Tso-pin, the Chinese Minister to Tokyo, who is expected to sail for Japan to resume duties shortly, made an important statement as follows:

"As both China and Japan are independent nations, it is quite right for them to undertake direct negotiations on any problems affecting the two countries. However, the existing Sino-Japanese problems are too complicated to warrant direct negotiations immediately. It might be possible in the future.

"Mr. Hirota, the new Japanese Foreign Minister, is my intimate friend, and I believe that in the circumstance of mutual understanding and personal friendship we can restore the two nations to friendly and happy relations.

"I hope that those two Asiatic people will not be too sentimental in facing the difficult situation. The so-called Asiatic Monroe Doctrine is, in my opinion, a rival to the pet idea of internationalism of the Westerners. If we take a longer view, its true meaning and value can be better appreciated."

STEEL FACTORY ATTACKED

COUNTRY AWAITS MOVE BY PRESIDENT

CHAOS GROWING

NEW YORK, SEPT. 29.
THE GRIMNESS OF THE ECONOMIC SITUATION WENT UNRELIEVED TO-DAY. IN FACT, THE CRISIS GROWS MORE SERIOUS, TEMPER ARE SHORTENING AND THERE ARE GRAVE THREATS OF VIOLENCE.

Five thousand coal strikers, hungry and weary, after a long trek, stormed the Carnegie steel factory at Clairburn in Pennsylvania, employing six thousand workers.

They tore the clothes from a number of workers and devoured the contents of their dinner pails, afterwards trying to induce the steel workers to go on strike.

Strikes are extending from coast to coast and the National Industrial Recovery Administration, while anxious to help, seems to be powerless.

The stoppage in the soft coal industry in three States, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia is practically one hundred per cent.

Strike organisers are now planning to picket the Ford Works in Detroit in order to induce a strike among the employees.

In the meantime, the Governor of Pennsylvania, where the strike situation is blackest, flew to Hyde Park to-day to try and induce President Roosevelt to intervene before the chaos of the strikes overthrows the recovery campaign.

WORLD APPEAL.

Up to the present, Hyde Park has preserved complete silence in the face of the serious situation and Washington has done likewise, but both place are humming with activity and there are persistent rumours that President Roosevelt will launch a world appeal for economic peace which will be even more dramatic than his arms peace appeal.

Mr. Green, the President of the American Federation of Labour, reveals that the increase in membership in the last three months has exceeded a million and a half, which will mean a huge increase in the funds of the Federation.—
Reuter.

A NEW CODE.

Washington, Sept. 29.
A counsellor of the N.I.R.A. is flying to Hyde Park to seek the President's signature to an agreement which will bring the steel companies in West Pennsylvania under the terms of the blumhousen code.

President Roosevelt expects that agreement will enable the workers in those mines to resume work on Monday.—Reuter.

THE BANKERS' VIEW.

Bankers still contend that extension of liberal credit should follow industrial recovery rather than precede it. They declare they can see no advance in selling the Government stock that pays 5 per cent. dividends and lending the money at 2 per cent.

However, the present situation is such that banking may be seriously disturbed if the inflationists can win sufficient support to control Congress at the next session. The single aim of the President's credit expansion programme is understood to head off the extremists and so improve conditions by January 1 that the Thomas group will be materially weakened.

Bankers have pointed out certain dangers to the expansion plan. They declare the strong banks are not in need of more capital and that the purchase of stocks in the weaker ones might not prove to be the wise course.

RATIONAL INFLATION.

Senator Martin, leader of the extreme inflationists, in a statement has modified his inflation proposals considerably although he says he has conducted a survey of Congress and found that 66 per cent. of the House and 75 per cent. of the Senate favour rational inflation.

Senator Thomas, who a few days ago was demanding a "forty-cent" dollar said the simplest method of bringing about controlled inflation would be for the President to issue non-interest bearing treasury notes which could be withdrawn at anytime the President desired to check the inflationary process.

Meanwhile reports have reached Washington that Mr. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, is working on a plan to stabilise the Canadian dollar. It is reported that the plan involves issuing additional currency on the basis of Canada's existing gold reserve. While this would be mild inflation the phase would be offset by the benefits of stabilisation.

NEW DESIGNATION.

Boston, Sept. 29.
A call for rechristening the Republican Party G.N.P., meaning the Grand New Party, instead of G.O.P., meaning Grand Old Party, has been sounded by Mr. George Olmstead, of Des Moines, Iowa, the National Director of the Young Republican League.

At a conference of party leaders from New England, New Jersey and New York, Mr. Olmstead suggested that the symbol for G.N.P. should be an elephant rampant with a broom in its trunk.—Reuter.

STOP PRESS

Arising out of a brawl which had its origin in the Butterfly Dancing Academy, three students, Hoon Phong-tien, 17, Kwan Chong Chiao, 20, and Thomas Yoo, 24, student, were charged before Mr. Balfour, this morning and released on bail.

It was stated that one of the people engaged in the fight was in hospital suffering from a deep stab wound in the back.

5 YEARS
FROM NOW

If pyorrhea attacks your gums

It's yours now, and you're happy. But in the next five years? Will he still admire you for your brilliant, flashing smile, your sparkling vitality? Or will you be a victim of pyorrhea, lose your smile, your energy, your vitality, and maybe him? Pyorrhea is that dreaded disease of the mouth that can do just those things. It attacks the gums, maybe for years before you know it! Then, gums become soft, tender, lose their natural lovely pink. Teeth loosen and drop out, or must be pulled out!

Don't you take such chances when you can easily safeguard against any such tragic ending to your happy life. Start at once by brushing your teeth every morning and night, with Forhan's for the Gums.

This dentifrice is more than a tooth paste. It prevents pyorrhea, keeps the gums firm and healthy, and the teeth gleaming white and sound.

Forhan's for the Gums is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D.D.S., specialist in mouth diseases. It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Astringent developed by Dr. Forhan and used by dentists throughout the world in the treatment of pyorrhea.

Thousands have enlarged pores and do not know it. Even enlarged pores lead to irritation. Unless you get rid of skin pore irritation, foreign matter collects, and the consequence is unsightly blackheads, pimples, blotches, yellow darkened colour and coarse rough skin.

Crème Tokalon Skin Food, White Colour (tinted), now contains a marvellous new soft-creamy wax extracted from flowers, combined with predigested olive oil and olive oil. This tonic, astringent and nourishing—penetrates instantly, soothes irritated skin glands, tightens enlarged pores, dissolves blackheads so that they fall away, whitens and softens darkest, roughest skin. Keeps the driest skin fresh and delicately moist but not greasy. Equally adapted to take off the shine from an oily skin or sleek shiny nose.

Crème Tokalon Skin Food (White Colour) gives indescribable new skin beauty and freshness in 3 days—such as can be obtained in no other way. It should be used every morning. Many an attractive proposal of marriage has been inspired by a lovely soft white skin and beautiful complexion.

THIS SAFE WAY

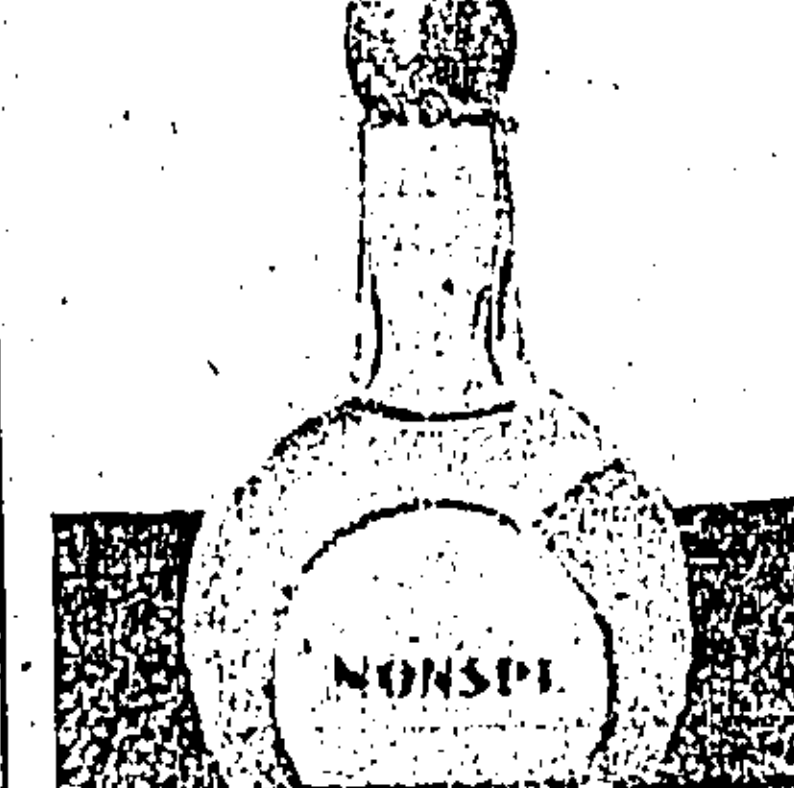

Complete safety and absolute effectiveness in a deodorant which does not irritate—this is new! Many deodorants are safe. Many are effective. But here is one which is both. Nonspi, an antiseptic liquid, quickly checks perspiration in the armpits... prevents unpleasant odor. Leaves the sensitive underarm skin without a trace of irritation.

DOCTORS PREPARE NONSPI. They recommend Nonspi to their patients. Doctors prefer Nonspi because it is harmless—simply diverts perspiration to other parts of the body where it evaporates freely. Nonspi is used by over a million women.

Two or three regular applications a week will protect you at all times and save your gowns from perspiration stain and odor.

GLADYS PARKER

YOUR CHILDREN.

By Olive Roberts Barton

Two parents sat on the veranda watching a game of tag.

The children were pretty much of an age, all except little Peter next door. He was younger than the rest and besides he had had a sick spell in the spring that had affected his legs.

He was always being tagged. He was "it" most of the time.

Their own boy and girl were among the best runners. They hadn't been tagged yet.

"I never saw anybody that could go like our Greta," said her father. She beats Dan all hollow. But he's good, too.

Suddenly something had happened. Greta was tagged. Peter had caught her.

"Hoh!" jibed Peter's brother. "You let that little slow-poke catch you."

"Oh, she's just a girl," shouted another boy. "Come on, try and catch me, Greta."

Catching Up

Greta caught him although poor Peter was right in her path.

But Peter was soon the goat again. He ran breathlessly after each flying young body but each time they dodged. He was getting very tired.

And then something else happened. He caught Dan.

"Say, what's the matter with you?" cried one of the girls. "I believe you're just getting caught on purpose. It's no fun if you're going to play that way."

"I think so, too," said Peter's brother. "You stay out, kid."

"No, he's not," Dan told him. "Peter's good. He can run like everything. Can't you, Pete?"

"Sure," bragged the little fellow, "I'm all well. I've caught two people."

"Come on," cried Greta. "Stop fussing."

Kindness in Children

The game was on again. But this time it was his own brother Peter caught.

One by one each child took a turn. Peter was very happy. Some unspoken influence was at work. Every child in the crowd had sensed what the two champions had done.

"Children are kind, aren't they?" said the mother of Greta and Dan proudly.

"If it suits them. They can be mean little devils, too," answered her husband. "It depends on the start they get."

"I don't think so. They are just shy about being kind. Boys are afraid other people will think they are sissies. Don't speak of it to them when they come in."

Children are capable of great kindnesses. The example of one child will go far.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Points on Posture

By Alicia Hart

If your posture is not all it should be, take steps to correct it before you buy new fall clothes.

Much has been written and said about the queenly manner in which famous women in history carried themselves. And a great amount of space has been given over to describing how handsome was a shapely head set on a graceful neck.

A graceful neck and throat can be acquired by holding your head up, your chin in and keeping your shoulders thrown back.

Sometimes the neck muscles become stiff. Exercises will remedy that condition. Stand or sit straight and throw your head as far back as it will go. Then tip it to the right, trying to touch your ear to your shoulder without moving your shoulder. Now stretch it downward to the left. Let your head hang loosely forward until your chin touches your chest. Keep your neck perfectly relaxed while doing each step. Repeat the exercise several times a day.

Relaxing your neck and rotating your head round and round in a wide circle is another step toward acquiring a graceful neck.

Stand or sit straight and throw your head as far back as it will go. Then tip it to the right, trying to touch your ear to your shoulder without moving your shoulder. Now stretch it downward to the left. Let your head hang loosely forward until your chin touches your chest. Keep your neck perfectly relaxed while doing each step. For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

CHAPTER XXXV

The second week in September Dick received his summons to return to work. He was to superintend construction of a group of hospital buildings in an eastern state. Work was to begin immediately and would last many months. A year at least—perhaps longer.

His departure left Eve dazed with astonishment and grief. She had not really believed he would go without her. Until the very moment when he swung aboard the train taking him away she had held steadily to the hope that he would yield to her wishes and remain in Lake City or else masterfully carry her away with him. That he did neither, but instead set off almost as calmly as though the separation were for a few weeks instead of long months, shook Eve's confidence in herself more than anything that had happened.

She had been certain of herself. Always! And since Dick had come into her life and made himself a part of it—how large a part she had not fully realized until that day—she had felt doubly secure. Even Dick's lack of income during the summer had failed to shake that security. She had felt all along that he would find a good job again. Perhaps a better one than before. The Dicks of the world, who never spared themselves, never skimped their work, never let their employers down, were almost certain to win out.

Tears misted Eve's eyes as the train pulled out of the station. Blindly she made her way to a taxi stand. She would be extravagant this once. She felt that she could not face curious eyes just then, not even the impersonal eyes of strangers.

In the taxi some inner voice prevented her from yielding to the impulse to weep unrestrainedly. She was thankful for this restraint when, just as she had turned the key in her door, Mr. Brooks appeared in the hall and invited her to make a fourth at bridge.

Eve wanted to refuse. She wanted to lock her door against the world and relieve her doubts and loneliness in tears. But she knew Mrs. Brooks was trying to be friendly. She had planned the bridge, Eve suspected, to help her through that first lonely evening. So she managed to smile and answer, "Why, how nice of you, Mrs. Brooks! I'll be glad to come, of course. Just give me time to powder my nose and slip into another dress."

The hall door leading to Mrs. Brooks' living room stood open when Eve emerged from her apartment. Mrs. Brooks, smiling and eager, slipped an arm about Eve and led her to the davenport. Eve could not help greeting the other guests as though she were in a daze. Her thoughts were with Dick, speeding eastward through the night. Miss Leeds was talking about her European trip and Eve was startled by a question addressed to her.

"I beg your pardon—I didn't hear you," she apologized to Dorothy McElhinney.

"I said 'shall we play bridge?'" responded the young teacher, who obviously was not interested in trips in which she had taken no part.

Eve, who had never been a bridge enthusiast, found herself unable to keep her mind on the game. So often did she ask what was trump that Miss McElhinney became slightly sarcastic. Mrs. Brooks, Eve's partner, seemed not to mind, however. But when they changed partners and Miss McElhinney found herself opposite Eve she said significantly: "No trumping my ace, now, Mrs. Rader!"

Eve flushed at the reprimand, but found it an effort to go on with the game. She longed to return to her apartment, yet dreaded it.

"When do you expect your husband back?" asked Miss McElhinney, getting Eve's attention with a start. "Or is he planning to be away permanently?"

Eve never remembered how she answered the question. Uppermost in her mind was the veiled insolence of the girl's manner. But the words had left their mark. Was it possible that Dick was never coming back to her? Had he confided his plans to Miss McElhinney? Eve dismissed these thoughts, assuring herself that they were ridiculous.

The next morning Eve awakened, weary and dispirited. Her head ached. Her face, she thought, when she dropped listlessly to the little chintz-covered seat before her dressing table mirror, looked weary and haggard. Skillfully she applied makeup to cover the ravages of grief and anxiety. The thought of food nauseated her but she forced herself to eat an orange and drink two cups of strong black coffee. She was driving herself. She knew this but there was no help for it. She must be at the office on time and she must keep her brain keen and clear. She had an early appointment with a salesman from a paper manufacturing company. For the first time Barnes had turned over to Eve the selection of the paper for some advertising folders.

Eve knew she would have to bargain shrewdly with the salesman and she hated that. She felt that it was beneath the dignity of Bixby's and beneath her own dignity, to haggle over prices. The thought of this responsibility was exciting, though. Surely Barnes would not entrust this selection to her except to prepare her to take over his work.

The terms she secured were excellent, Barnes assured Eve, when the sample and figures were placed before him for his approval. This praise failed to elate Eve however. Though she had been crisp and efficient in her manner and had shown careful judgment as to texture and appearance of the samples submitted, she felt that she had made a good deal not because of her intelligence and efficiency, but because she was an attractive young woman in smart and becoming clothes.

The salesman's name was Kenny and Eve had disliked him the moment she first saw him. He was too nattily dressed, too sleek and oily in his manner. His eyes were constantly roving and had a look of boldness.

Eve saw the man jotting down something in a notebook as she emerged from Barnes' office to announce that the purchase had been approved. Mona Allen, at her desk, was registering great industry.

"He's writing down her telephone number," Eve guessed. "She'll probably have a date with him before the week's out. And he's married—I'm almost certain he's married. How can she be so cheap and common?"

Eve's suspicion was confirmed a moment later when Kenny was about to leave the office. Arlene, who had been typing busily during his call and apparently had been blind and deaf to the byplay between him and Mona, flashed the salesman a brilliant smile as he passed her desk.

"Good morning, Mr. Kenny," she beamed maliciously. "I see by the public prints that your up-and-coming little suburb has rapid transit at last. Makes it awfully nice for you, doesn't it? You'll only have to spend 15 minutes now to reach the wife and kiddies in the little bungalow out on Elm Street!"

A flush suffused the man's face. He laughed nervously. "Have to have your little joke, don't you, Miss Smith?" he said and made his escape.

"Oh, is he really married?" squeaked Mona in mock indignation. "Why, he was trying to make a date with me. Imagine that!"

Eve brought up the subject again as she and Arlene waited at noon for their lunch to be served at a candle-light table in a dim corner of the Gypsy Tearoom. "Do you think Mona will make a date with Kenny now that she knows he is married?" she asked.

"Sure, she will! But she'll be shy about it and try to avoid people she knows when she's with him," Arlene answered.

"But why does she do it? What does a girl hope to gain by that sort of thing?"

"I've often puzzled over the question myself," said Arlene. "In her case I'd say it's just plain dumbness. With that baby face of hers and the gift she has for covering up a mean tricky nature with a mask of innocence Mona could do pretty well for herself, matrimonially speaking. But instead she prefers to play with fire. She'd like to think she's a combination of Cleopatra and Helen of Troy. I think she actually believes all the flattering things men say to her."

At this point the hostess of the tearoom, in gypsy dress, approached and offered to read the tea leaves in their cups. Eve found her wish, ready-made, waiting in her heart. She wished that nothing might ever come between her and Dick and their love for each other.

Arlene was warned by the fortune teller to look out for the treachery of a blond woman. Eve was told that her happiness was threatened by a dark man. Sheer nonsense, of course! The woman had no occult power. But Eve could not suppress a little shiver of apprehension as the thought of Theron Reece came to her. Reece had no power whatever to harm her. But she could not shake off the fear that chilled her heart.

TELEPHONE LINES TO ASSIST ARMY

Nanking, Sept. 29.

With a view to facilitating the anti-red drive in Kiangsi the Ministry of Communications has undertaken to improve the telephone system between Nanchang and other points where high commands are stationed.

New lines will be added to the existing long-distance telephone service between Nanchang, Kiangsi and Kuling, which will also be extended as far as Fuchow, the strategic centre to the South.—Reuter.

NAME CHANGED

AUSTRALIAN AND NEW ZEALAND ASSN.

The name of the Australian Association of Hongkong and South China was altered by an extraordinary general meeting held in the Gloucester Building yesterday afternoon. It now becomes the Australian and New Zealand Association of Hongkong and South China and extends full membership to natives of both antipodean Dominions and to anyone who has resided either in Australia or New Zealand for a continuous period of five years.

In introducing the motion, the Chairman (Dr. H. D. Matthews) emphasised that the Executive had not made the recommendation because of lack of support from the Australian section. The formation meeting had decided that full membership was to be restricted to Australians, but the Executive considered that a change of feeling had since occurred.
 New Zealanders and Australians were bound together by very close ties and no substantial reason existed why they should not work harmoniously together in an Association for their common good.

Women Members.
 After full discussion it was decided to admit women members under two heads—(a) As full members on the payment of $10 and (b) as associate members on the payment of $5.

By the terms of this motion, the only difference between full and associate members will be that full members will have a vote at general meetings and will be eligible for nomination to seats on the committee.

At the conclusion of the meeting the Chairman announced that the Executive had decided to resign en bloc. The Executive, he said, felt that since membership had now been extended to New Zealanders, it was only right that they should have a voice in deciding who was to carry out the executive duties of the Association.
 The resignations will take effect in two months' time after which another meeting will be called to elect a new executive.

INNER MONGOLIA.

NANKING FAVOURABLE TO AUTONOMY PROPOSAL

Nanking, Sept. 26.
 In connexion with the movement for local autonomy in Inner Mongolia, where the Mongol princes are to meet shortly to discuss the question, Chinese sources here describe the leaders of the National Government as being favourably disposed towards it, but state that they are anxious to send some commissioners to assist in the formulation and execution of the measure desired. It is reported that the Government intends to send Gen.
 Huang Shao-hung, Minister of the Interior, and Mr. Pei Yun-tai, Chairman of the Mongolian and Tibetan Affairs Commission, to Mongolia for this purpose and that their consent is being sought.
 Mr. Wang Ching-wei, Chairman of the Executive Yuan, this morning received the two Mongolian representatives here and discussed the matter with them.—Reuter.

LEADERS MEET.

The North China And Sinkiang Situations.

Nanking, Sept. 29.
 Government officials this morning discussed for two and a half

NEW CHIEFTAIN

MR. A. L. SHIELDS HEADS ST. ANDREW SOCIETY

At the annual meeting of St. Andrew's Society last evening in Messrs. Jardine's Board Room, Mr. A. L. Shields was elected Chief-tain for the ensuing year, with Mr. A. S. MacKichan as vice-president.

Mr. K. E. Greig, the retiring Chief-tain, presided, and there were also present at the Committee Table Messrs. A. L. Shields, J. W. C. Bonnar, T. H. R. Shaw, R. M. McLay, K. S. Morrison, A. S. MacKichan, J. B. Ross, D. Gow, W. Kay, H. R. Forsyth (committee) and Mr. E. M. Bryden (Hon. Secretary).

The Chairman said:—Gentlemen, the first business of the meeting is to consider the report and accounts and as the report has been in your hands for some time I shall not read it to you. You will notice that the sum of $1,197.13 was spent assisting distressed Scotsmen during the year. Turning to the Ball account I regret to say that there was an actual loss of about $400. This is entirely due to your Committee having rightly, I think, cut the cost of the tickets down to the "bone," and owing to a slightly smaller attendance than budgeted for. You will see that there was an all-round reduction in the cost of running the Ball; I shall refer to this again later. I would now propose that the accounts be passed and if someone will kindly second this I shall then be pleased to answer any questions which members may wish to ask.

Mr. Duncan seconded and the report and accounts were adopted.

The Annual Ball. The Chairman:—I would now like to make the following remarks. The annual Ball was held in the Peninsula Hotel on Friday, 25th November last, and I feel sure can be voted from a social and enjoyment point of view a complete success in every way. In this connection we owe our gratitude to our Committee for all their efforts in making the Ball the complete success, I consider it was. We are especially grateful to our Hon. Secretaries, Messrs. Bryden and Robb, for their heavy task cheerfully and most efficiently undertaken (applause). Talking from experience, I am sure it will cheer your incoming Chief-tain to know that with the efficient chiefs of staff and staff I have had my task during office was a very light one indeed. I am sure members will join with me in expressing our great thanks to our honorary pipers. On Ball night especially there is no light task, but I can certify to the cheerful and efficient manner in which pipe Major Mackey and his pipers "Gart them Skirrell": on this and other Scottish occasions. (applause).

I have referred to the loss on the Ball and would like to add that your Committee studied various ways to keep down expense, such as not having practice dances, etc., but as one who holds the view that we ought to have practice dances I am glad that we did not cut them out; but of course the matter is in your hands to decide upon. Roughly, if the two practice dances were not held, on last year's figures there would be a saving of $1,500. But as I say I think the practice dances justify the expense and if they had been abandoned it is feared a lesser number would have attended the Ball.

Burns' Night. I know that in some quarters regret has been expressed that we did not hold a Burns supper this year, and I would, for the benefit of these gentlemen, like to explain the reasons.

Members' attendance in recent years at Burns' Night Dinner has been very disappointing. This year Burns' Night fell on Chinese New Year's Eve; then there was the matter of expense, and also the fact that we had held the Scots' centenary dinner recently. In many ways I regret that the dinner was not held but in discussion the Committee considered dropping it this year the best course in all the circumstances. I do hope that this year the Burns' Dinner will have great support, as I certainly think it cannot be allowed to lapse.

Now I wish to refer to the matter of new members joining the Society. I recently had a look at some of the old minutes of meetings of this Society and from these one comes to realise what a vigorous, and sometimes acrimonious lot of "Scots" the members were. We may have lost some of the old acrimony, but we must see to it that we do not lose any of the good old vigour. I would like to see members making it a duty to get all Scotsmen coming to our Colony to join the Society on arrival. In my opinion there are two duties for young Scots arriving here, one is, as I say, to join the Society, and the other is to join the Scottish Company of the Defence Force. To this latter I would earnestly draw your attention; there are many vacancies and with a leader like Captain Forsyth, and the excellent pipe band they are fortunate in having, there, should be, and I hope will be, a fill up in the ranks of what ought to be our special pride, the Scottish Company of Hongkong Volunteer Defence Force.

The Reel Club. The annual report of the Reel Club was issued last month and the members are to be commended on the success and enthusiasm with which they carry through their various activities, and on the accomplished manner in which they seem to close each year with an ever-increasing cash balance in hand. The officers and members of our Society have reason to be grateful for the work carried out by the Reel Club. Interest in our Scottish dances has been stimulated and the improved skill with which these dances are executed at St. Andrew's Ball is very noticeable.

The growing enthusiasm for our reels and strathspeys, etc., adds considerably to the enjoyment and success of the Ball.

The Reel Club at the moment has approximately 140 members, including quite a number who are not of this society. I have no hesitation in recommending the attraction of the Reel Club to the members of St. Andrew's Society and hope that more members will give their active support.

Election of Officers. The chairman, proposing the election of Mr. A. L. Shields as Chief-tain for the ensuing year, stated that Mr. Shields needed no introduction. He had been vice-president of the Society during the past year and was a very representative Scotsman. He had been in close business association with Mr. Robert Shawan, whose knowledge of Scotch history and lore was second to none in this part of the world.

The motion was seconded by Mr. J. W. C. Bonnar who said Mr. Shields was one of the oldest members of the Society. He had been pressed on various occasions to move up but had always been content to take a back seat until last year. He thought they would be honouring themselves as well as the Society in electing Mr. Shields. The motion was carried.

Mr. A. S. MacKichan was elected vice-president on the motion of Mr. J. B. Ross seconded by Dr. J. C. Macgown.

Proposing the re-election of Messrs. Bryden and Robb, Mr. B. Wyllie said the Society had been extremely fortunate in recent years in having at the disposal the services of the two joint secretaries, Messrs. Bryden and Robb. Mr. A. K. MacKenzie seconded and the motion was carried.

Messrs. A. D. Lowson and W. H. P. Rice were elected treasurers on the motion of Mr. J. D. Kinaird seconded by Mr. T. A. Martin.

The following were elected to serve on the general committee: Messrs. H. R. Forsyth, D. Gow, W. Kay, K. S. Morrison, R. M. McLay, Dr. J. C. Macgown, Messrs. J. B. Ross and B. Wyllie.

Thanking the meeting for electing him, Mr. Shields said the position of Chief-tain was one to which all Scotsmen aspired and he was very glad to have reached there. He assured the meeting that he would do everything he could for the benefit of the Society during his year of office, and make it a success. With Mr. MacKichan vice-president and a good committee he felt sure they would make good in the year to come. He felt very embarrassed by the remarks made by Mr. Greig and Mr. Bonnar and said that if they appeared in the papers he would put them out and put them in my hat for future reference.

Ball On St. Andrew's Day.

Mr. Shields: There is one matter in connexion with St. Andrew's Ball I would like to mention. The Ball as you know has on several occasions been held on a Friday. There are several reasons why Friday is a suitable night, one being that it gives people a chance to sleep it off on Saturday afternoon. I personally feel the Ball should be held if possible on St. Andrew's Day. It detracts a great deal from the importance of the occasion if we meet on some other day as it is St. Andrew's Day we are celebrating. St. Andrew's Day this year falls on a Thursday and I would like to have the feelings of the meeting as to whether it should be held on a Thursday or a Friday.

It was decided on the motion of Mr. Duncan, seconded by Mr. B. Wyllie that the dance be held on St. Andrew's Day.

On the motion of Mr. Bonnar it was decided that practice dances be held this year.

A vote of thanks to the retiring chief-tain was proposed by Mr. Shields who stated that his year of office had been a most successful one. Mr. Greig was not only efficient but had a way of taking short cuts out of difficulties. A vote of thanks was proposed to Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., Ltd. for the use of the Board room.

Of The PulpitLIGHT ON ORIGINS OF THE RENAISSANCEDEBT TO THE MIDDLE AGES

Great interest has been aroused by the theories of Dr. G. R. Owat, who, after ten years of research, claims to have proved that the accepted explanation of the Renaissance as a sudden uprising of literary genius on the part of the people is all wrong.

He maintains that it was based on, and in some cases copied word for word from the sermons of the mediaeval preachers.

Current ideas will have to be completely revised if his thesis is accepted, as seems likely, for many experts have already expressed their agreement with his views. Recently there has been a tendency for expert opinion to move in this direction, stimulated, particularly, by the work of Professor R. W. Chambers. Dr. Owat received the degree of Litt. D. at the last congregation of the Cambridge University year.

SERMONS IN SHAKESPEARE.

Dr. Owat has had to unearth and read hundreds of MSS. which have not been looked at for centuries. Besides detailing actual cases where passages can be found word for word in the printed sermons of the great mediaeval preachers like Bromyard and Brunton, his method has been to analyse the great body of mediaeval sermons, and show that, as a whole, they are of the stuff of which poetic and dramatic literature is made.

In the book which he has recently published he contends that the preachers were in touch with the affairs of daily life in a way which few people realise. The pulpit constantly inveighed against women making-up and the bad manners of the younger generation, while the following quotation from a XIII. Century preacher might have been written to-day:

"The besetting sin of modern parliaments is that many counsels are given, but none are carried out. Therefore, they well deserve the name 'Parliament' since there is much parleying, but the result belies wholly or in great part those things which had been spoken and ordained."

Dr. Owat traces the homiletic influence which Bunyan, Chaucer and Langland—author of "The Vision of Piers Plowman"—underwent, and asserts that an ecclesiastical influence can be found even as late as Shakespeare. What is Hamlet but a sermon on the effects of sin? he asks. Macbeth, he asserts, is but a study of conscience, Antony and Cleopatra a study of woman as the seducer—a favourite subject with mediaeval preachers—and Coriolanus a study in pride.

SUPPORT FOR THE THEORY.

Experts have expressed the following opinions of his work:

Miss Elleen Power, who is noted for her work in this direction: "Mr. Owat has amply proved his point. It will be impossible to omit mediaeval preachers from among the spiritual forebears of Bunyan, whose use of abstract personification they forestalled."

Mr. Shane Leslie: "It proves that, thanks to the pulpit, the literary tradition was never lost, that Tudor English was not a sudden bloom, and that even the English Bible must be set against a continuity of English devotional prose."

Dr. G. G. Coulton, one of the greatest living experts on the subject: "Dr. Owat has a definite thesis which he defends explicitly from first to last, and in my judgment with complete success. Much of what is most effective in our poets, and much of what has often been acclaimed as most original is an echo from the mediaeval pulpit. Latimer himself, as Dr. Owat truly insists, was on these points simply a continuator of mediaeval tradition."

AND THIS BUICK MAINTAINS THE STANDARD OF COMPARISON
FOR THE ENTIRE WORLD

Viewed from any angle, the 1933 Buick reveals its smartness, but the front view particularly displays its distinction and individuality...its low, wind-stream styling...its graceful streamlines, fenders with contour valance. The new "V" type radiator with chrome grille is one of the new Buick's most striking appearance features. The chrome-plated synchronized twin horns are of the smart, elbow-type. New headlights and lights harmonize with the general appearance.

The front windows in all closed models, and the front and rear quarter windows in all sedans are equipped with this ventilating system.

This double-drop frame with X-type cross member provides a very rigid construction, permits a lower mounting of the body and the use of rubber in the five-point mounting of the engine.

THE new Buick, in many of its most vital functions, assures the maximum of pleasant, efficient motoring.....without any attention or effort on the part of the driver. Such a feature is Buick's new Carburetor Heat Control which is entirely automatic, eliminating the hand control formerly located on the instrument board.

Another is Buick's new Inertia-type automatic shock absorbers which eliminate the hand regulator. The new Buick can be driven at high speeds over all roads with the greatest degree of comfort.

There are other features which greatly lessen effort on the part of the driver, such as the new starter button on the instrument board, which takes the place of the old-type floor pedal.....brakes which afford a much softer pedal and are more effective.....Automatic Clutch Control which has been greatly improved, making it far easier to handle the car.

It would be difficult indeed to conceive of a car offering greater certainty of smooth, reliable performance.....or more mechanical improvements that make for easy, almost effortless driving.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1933.

LEAGUE AND MANCHURIA

Dr. Wellington Koo brings a sharp reminder to the League that its responsibilities in the Manchuria issue have not entirely ceased. Geneva's policy, following the action of the Special Committee in directing international non-recognition of Manchukuo and pointing the ways, has been that of allowing events to shape their own course. The line of least resistance, undoubtedly, but even this is fraught with dangers. It does not even promise the advantages which the cynics have predicted. Order and prosperity in Manchuria can only be guaranteed by Japan, we are told and we might agree if they were also content to let well alone. The indications, unfortunately, are otherwise. Japanese action in the last eighteen months has compelled both Britain and the United States to look to naval needs. And on the mainland, the Soviets, to whom war would be a calamity, have been in a state of acute anxiety lest the Japanese should force a conflict on them. The Russian fears may be exaggerated, but they are certainly not baseless. Moscow has ample evidence of the ambitions of the Japanese imperialists, and it sees, moreover, Japanese armies, and a horde of White Russians, encamped on the edge of Soviet territory. With Japan dug in in Manchuria, the menace of war in the Far East has reached the stage that none but armament manufacturers can contemplate with equanimity, and however it might begin the chances are that it would end, like that of 1914, as a world war. It is a risk of which we cannot make light and it is for that reason that China is compelled to wax impatient at the failure of the League to take decisive steps. After all, without acquiescing in the finality of the present situation, the safer policy must be to accept to the realities of the moment, which implies that China cannot expect intervention on her behalf. If there was a danger of further Japanese adventures, things might be different, but the Fang Chen-wu episode has passed without any such threat. The fact is that the Japanese people are not enamoured of adventuring in China proper. Manchuria, yes; that territory is regarded by the Japanese as in a special category. Economically, it is their bowl of rice; sentimentally, it is their shrine; strategically, it is their Achilles' heel. But China proper is different. It is looked on as dangerous ground.

NOTES OF THE DAY
WISE SPENDING

It has to be admitted that the Colony's Budget looks better in points of detail than it does under a general survey. If there are grounds for misgiving on the growth of overhead, there is at least no headlong rush into parsimony in making provision for public works. Large sums are allocated for the new Government Civil Hospital and the new gaol, and the amount to go into the Shing Mun Valley waterworks scheme approaches closely the two million dollar mark. It is not important that two of the most expensive of these items are regarded as loan works. There is every prospect of the Treasury being able to finance them from surplus funds without recourse to borrowing, a policy which is reassuring and commendable. Business methods are not entirely foreign to government quarters.

TEMPORARY POSTS

It is satisfactory, too, to record that while the cost of administration is still rising and in a manner which gives no reason for confidence that it will not become still higher in the future, Government is creating more temporary posts. The additional officers required to see through works of big magnitude of the Shing Mun Gorge Dam type will be appointed, we understand, only for the duration of the job. At the same time, the number added to the permanent staff is still high and calculated to create serious problems if the dollar should rise to its former level, causing a marked falling off in revenue. It is only six years ago that the Colony's total income was no more than $21,800,000. To-day, the cost of government salaries etc. is over $17,000,000.

MILITARY CONTRIBUTION

Further source of congratulation is to be found in the success of negotiations aiming at a reduction in the Military Contribution. Details have not been disclosed but the relief is substantial. Official expectation is that next year's payment will be less by $858,000 than was estimated for 1933. This is a saving worth the battle with the War Office.

TALK-OF-DISARMAMENT

After a week of negotiation there is not much progress to report in the field of disarmament. The political big-wigs have been talking in private and not about a reduction of arms but about an agreement not to reduce arms, or to arm further, for a period of four years. The main problem has been, as it will almost always be, how to reconcile the French and German views. If they succeed in that, they will indeed have done well. On Thursday, it was thought that the stage had been reached when the German and French delegates could meet officially and discuss their own problems. As a result, Baron Neurath is going to Berlin for instructions from Hitler. The Nazi leader's shadow seems to fall across every European problem to-day.

NATIONAL THEATRE

The movement for a National Theatre is once more rearing its head in Britain. Mr. Sidney Carroll, a prominent London manager, has made a plea for the establishment of such a theatre; and the committee controlling the fund that was once started in the interests of a National Theatre proposes to resume action after a period of prolonged quiescence by holding a Shakespeare Festival in London during 1934. That the movement for a National Theatre has always failed in the past is no proof that it will never succeed. In fact, the pertinacity with which the movement revives after repeated defeats shows it to be possessed of an inherent vitality that cannot forever be robbed of its reward. What useful function could a National Theatre fulfill? It is urged that a National Theatre untrammelled by commercial consideration would be able to perform a valuable cultural service by keeping in its repertory plays of value which, having exhausted their initial popularity, the public would otherwise have little opportunity of seeing. Pinero, Jones, Shaw, Maugham, Barrie, Drinkwater, Massfield and other dramatists of like calibre are each authors of plays rarely or never now presented in central London.

VIENNESE BLACK MAGIC

By E. L. ALLEN

If ever the Nazis establish themselves in Vienna, there is one man who will have to send for a time-table and look up the first train for the frontier. Though perhaps, being the brave man that he is, Sigmund Freud may choose to stay on and face the music. At any rate, there can be room under the swastika for him. One wonders, indeed, how there can be room for him under any authority, so remorseless a critic is he. Freud is the Eternal Jew, taking a terrible revenge on Christendom for its maltreatment of his race.

He is a past master in black magic. As the cavalcade of the centuries marches past him, he touches with his psychoanalytic wand each member of it in turn, mutters over it the word 'Illusion', and watches it vanish into thin air. The world outside his consulting-room is the willing victim of its own dreams, and only within the four walls of that room is truth to be found!

"ORIGINAL SIN"

Take, for example, his account of the 'primitive horde'. In the beginning, so the story runs, the first family was a community in which the father had power of life and death over all the members. The sons hated his rule and longed to possess the mother; they therefore formed a conspiracy and slew him. As they stood by his dead body, remorse overcame them for their deed. They realised, too, that they had set a dangerous precedent; as they had done to their father, so their sons might one day do to them. So they decreed that henceforth parricide should be a crime. Out of that 'original sin' have come morality, conscience, religion, civilisation, in fact, well-nigh everything that we value to-day!

So the process goes on till one bit of human life after another has been reduced to something which is little, if at all, better than the brute. Do you urge, for example, that at any rate family affection bears witness to something higher? The reply is that jealousy rather than affection is the normal relation between members of the same family, and that love is the exception between brothers and sisters, the rule is hate. Do you answer that the very existence of human society and of such sentiments as patriotism is proof that man is not wholly self-seeking? Yes, is the reply this time, society is an arrangement under which we love those who are inside with us, on condition that we are allowed to hate those who are outside. The much-vaunted unity of Christendom in the Middle Ages did not rest, Freud would say, on a common Catholic faith, but on a common antagonism to the Jews, and Hitler is making use of the same psychological law to build up his 'totalitarian State'. What will happen to the Communist brotherhood when the time comes when there are no more bourgeois to persecute?

PROCESS OF CIVILISATION

Civilisation is a process by which humanity, against its will, purchases blessings it does not want by the sacrifice of those it would give anything to retain. History is the story of successive leaps on our part out of ever hotter frying-pans into ever fiercer fires. Freud boasts of his inability to offer anything cheerful. He says, 'All want consolation, alike the most rabid revolutionary and the most stubborn champion of orthodoxy, and I have none to give.'

Freud is read, of course, by specialists only, but his influence has extended far and wide, and he is one of those whom people think when they allege that modern investigation has knocked the bottom out of morality and the family, showing these things to be only outworn survivals of a past age. What is to be said about this?

FREUD ANSWERS HIMSELF.

In the first place, Freud is always interesting reading, he is often fascinating; but one has to remember that it is fiction rather than science. Though he is one of the foremost intellects of our day, his intellect does not stand the ghost of a chance against his imagination; it runs away with him every time! It is useless to challenge him and demand evidence for a theory of which you are doubtful, for you will not get any evidence, but another theory instead! No doubt, there is plenty of illusion in the world, and it would be good to reduce the amount; but at the present moment, there is probably quite as much of it in Freud's consulting-room as elsewhere!

But that is not all. Freud himself is an answer to his account of human nature. This preacher of rebellion is himself a model of the domestic virtues. He is a devoted husband and leads a happy family life as it is led in many a middle-class home in Vienna. He is conscientious and hard-working as a professional man, rising early and retiring late, and giving himself without wearying to the quest of knowledge and the relief of suffering!

One critic has described Freud's system as 'Panpism', the belief that human life can be explained by motives derived from the evil-tub! Well, Freud may speak of men's actions as determined by the desire to secure certain pleasures of a fairly animal character, but he does not show much sign of this himself!

"I wish Roy could be here. He never gets a holiday."

BULLS AND INNERS

From the Office Butts

A local resident expressed the opinion the other day, that some of our equestrianes do not realise how badly they sit. We would remind the gentleman that some of our golfers do not realise how badly they lie.

We understand that last Wednesday's shower completely ruined a lady's bathing suit at the M.C.L. show.

Some Government servants hold the opinion that promotion should be in accordance with merit. There'd be nothing to put in the blue book.

"Is Hongkong Shobblish?" asks a writer in a Straits paper. No! It's only plique!

In some circles, the word audit is pronounced with emphasis on the syllable Awa!

"Revenue for 1933 has been swollen beyond expectations"—Let's hope it won't 'go bust'.

"Until landing rights have been arranged, the provision of commercial air services in the Colony must hang fire"—reads a report. This will doubtless heap coals on the head of somebody.

The Colonial Secretary, in his Budget speech stated—"The Budget I am now submitting, does not I fear, contain any large amount of colour". We thought it had every colour of the spectrum!

We hear of a local volunteer who is so keen that he even shows his garden seeds in drills.

We hear of a local lady who upon being advised to take up hiking as a method of reducing, thought a book on pathology!

"Circumstances alter cases" appears to be the slogan of some of our junk coolies.

It is now asserted that a man with a deep voice is invariably honest. Many a true word spoken in chest!

An American millionaire recently stated that he started life as a bare-footed boy. It would have been something to talk about if he had been born with boots on!

It is only natural that Naval Officers should flock to Fanling. The call of the teal!

We hear of a local Australian who is anxious to break down Hongkong's social barriers. He will not need an axo sent!

Women have now invaded the ranks of bowlers. Trust a jack to attract the jills!

Women have also found a way of joining the ranks of masons. We know a few who are frequently dropping bricks.

LEAGUE
ADVISORDR. RAJCHMANN
IN COLONY

WORK IN CHINA

Dr. Rajchmann, who was recently appointed as technical adviser by the League of Nations to China, passed through Hongkong this morning aboard the s.s. Conto Rosso on his way to Shanghai and Nanking.

In the North, Dr. Rajchmann will join other experts appointed by the League and already in China to help the Government in matters relating to public health, the construction of roads, irrigation, agriculture and civil service, with a view to coordinating their activities.

Seen by a Telegraph representative soon after the vessel berthed, Dr. Rajchmann, referring to his appointment, said that China had been cooperating with the League of Nations since 1929 in connection with reconstruction and technical development.

The Chinese Government asked the League at the beginning of the current summer to continue collaboration in the future and the League then appointed a special China committee comprising the President of the League Council representatives of China, Great Britain, Italy, Germany, France, Czechoslovakia, Spain and Norway to this end. This committee was to act only when requested to do so by the Chinese Government.

"There are at present in China," he said, "quite a number of experts sent out by the League at the request of the Government to help in various spheres of public activity such as public health, construction of roads, irrigation, agriculture and the form of Civil Service. The Chinese Government then considered it advisable to ask the League to send to China a technical officer who would co-ordinate the work of these various experts and to act as technical liaison officer between the Chinese National Economy Council and the technical organisations of the League. In July of this year this China Committee met in Paris appointed me as technical delegate."

Asked his views regarding the political activities of the League, Dr. Rajchmann said he had none. He was interested solely in the technical side.

Dr. Rajchmann also declined to say anything regarding the reported Japanese opposition to his appointment.

TENNIS RECORD.

C.R.C. Clean Sweep Of League Titles.

"B" DIVISION FINAL.

The Chinese Recreation Club won the title of the "B" Division of the Hongkong Tennis League for the tenth year in succession when they easily accounted for the Club de Recreation on the home courts at Causeway Bay. The Chinese won by eight sets to one.

The courts were on the slippery side, this being caused by the heavy rain which fell during Thursday night. This year, the C.R.C. have created a new record in local tennis annals, making a clean sweep of the "A," "B" and "C" Divisions, also winning the Mixed Doubles League for the first time.

Scores of yesterday's match were as follows:

L. F. Hon and F. K. Lau (Chinese R.C.) beat G. A. Noronha and Dr. A. P. Gutierrez 6-3; beat L. A. da Silva and J. J. dos Remedios 6-1; beat J. Goncalves and V. Yvanovich 6-3.

M. K. Lau and P. F. Choy (Chinese R.C.) beat Noronha and Gutierrez 6-0; beat Silva and Remedios 6-0; beat Goncalves and Yvanovich 6-3.

S. W. Liang and F. H. Kwok (Chinese R.C.) beat Noronha and Gutierrez 6-3; beat Silva and Remedios 6-3; beat Goncalves and Yvanovich 6-2.

2. Yeung Wei-lim; 3. Wong Yow-man.

100 metres for girls, free style: 1. Young Shau-king; 2. Leung Wing-han; 3. Young Shau-chen. Time—88 secs.

100 metres for men, free style: 1. Kwok Chen-hang; 2. Wong Yuh-hung; 3. Ng Chi-man and Leung Wei-sang.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

CHILDHOOD SHOWS THE MAN, AS MORNING SHOWS THE DAY.—Milton.

Lieut. Comdr. G. H. Gandy, R.N. (retired) will read a paper on "Surveying and Topographical Surveying" in the Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders on October 12, at 5.45 p.m. Members and friends are invited to be present.

K.C.C. DEVELOPMENT
SCHEMES

did not, said:—

"There is not very much to be said over and above what appears in the report but I have a few comments to make which I trust you will endorse."

"Our Cricket team has a much stronger batting side but despite the efforts of our Captain and Mr. Burnett, our bowling attack was not sufficiently good to deal with the strongest of our opponents. I learn that this season we have two new members and one old member returning to the fold who will strengthen the team, especially as one of them may be able to replace his old slow bowling. In connection with the very successful season of the second XI, I would draw your attention to the batting average of Mr. C. I. Stapleton which was 80.3" (applause).

THE LATE MR. COCHRANE.

"I mention with very great regret the untimely death of Mr. T. M. Cochrane who, nearly 12 years ago, was a very useful bowler and played in our team."

"At Lawn Bowls we did not, perhaps, do as well in the League as the individual prowess of some of our members made probable, but in recent seasons our team gained some remarkable victories and the constitution of the present team augurs well."

"Although this feat has been achieved since the end of the concluded year, I cannot let the opportunity pass of congratulating our secretary on becoming the Open Lawn Bowls Champion of the Colony" (applause).

"With regard to Lawn Tennis, I wish to congratulate the sub-committee and in particular Mr. D. S. Green, on the success of the short, sharp, and sweet tournament of 1932. The Ground Sub-Committee have kept the greens in splendid condition; and I may mention Mr. Charles Burford whose retirement was a great loss in this connexion especially."

EXHIBITION BILLIARD PLANS.

"The Billiard Room has been a conclusive success and a fine source of revenue, showing a profit of £1,000. Handicap events were keenly contested and it is intended this year to stage championship events and to hold exhibition matches if and when certain well-known professional champions visit the Colony."

"Turning to the accounts, the year under review has been a very important one in the Club's history—the first year we have been in the new building and one in which it was obvious that our expenditure would rise sharply and we could merely hope that our revenue would rise equally. Two years ago when the magnitude of our present scheme became apparent, I was not infrequently worried by doubts expressed by pessimists as to whether we should be able to live up to our new standard. Well, I am sure you will all agree, after reading the Report and Accounts, that those fears were groundless. Although we have not included entrance fees in our income but have placed it to Reserve, and have included in our expenditure the whole cost of the opening ceremony—which amounted to £1,800—we are still able to show a balance of income over expenditure amounting to £2,864.24."

"A comparison between the details of last year's expenditure and income and this year's, is not easy because the latter have been drawn up in a different form. I can give you the following figures:—Total income (1932) was £20,900 against £27,172 this year; expenditure was £10,000 as against £25,000; bar profits were £7,480 as against £9,689; spent on entertainment last year, £14,029 as against £951 this year."

"The 1931 pessimists were convinced that with the raising of the subscription we should lose old members without drawing new members. To a slight extent that has been justified in that we have lost a few members, but we have 337 as against 308 a year ago. We still have room for more members. I feel that the Kowloon Cricket Club should appeal to a much wider public and I say with confidence that the life of any permanent resident of the Peninsula would be incomplete unless he became a member of the Club."

"The President then moved the adoption of the accounts and report. Mr. Abraham seconded and the meeting approved."

The election of officers resulted as follows:—President, Mr. R. E. Lindell; hon. sec., Mr. A. Hyde-Lay; hon. treasurer, Mr. F. G. Maund; captain, Mr. F. Goodwin; vice-captain, Mr. E. C. Finch; committee, Messrs. E. C. Finch, F. E. Nash, C. J. Roe, W. W. Hirst, V. C. Labrum, H. Overly, A. E. Silstone, C. I. Stapleton and G. I. White; auditors, Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews.

The President proposed that Mr. Labrum be elected an honorary life member of the Club. He had been a member for 20 years and had served them in many capacities.

NEW YORK STOCK
EXCHANGEYESTERDAY'S MARKET STEADY

According to Messrs. Swan Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was steady yesterday. Business done 1,040,000 shares. The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's market: The whole list was firm with the exception of American Tel. & Tel. which declined more than three points due to heavy short selling without apparent reason. Goldmining shares advanced due to rumours that the President intends to fix the gold content of the dollar at a level which will make it worth 60 cents and a free gold market would be inaugurated. Both rumours, however, cannot be confirmed. The price of 60 cents for the dollar will be equivalent to a gold price of $4.45. Carloadings for the week ending September 23rd were reported at 652,899 carloads, and increase of 653 carloads above last week's figure. Our New York Office Cable: (This morning). Stocks: Profit-taking, started by the selling of American Tel. & Tel. shares because of apprehension that its dividend might be reduced halted a rally but pressure was light and indications are that there will be further irregularity to-morrow. Wheat: The market closed rather weak largely due to local pressure. Bolivar purchases are warranted on declines on the basis of constructive news. Cotton: Some hedging of Government holdings reported increasing. Far reaching credit expansion and price raising Government plans are favourably considered and consensus of opinion favours higher prices as plans develop. Element of weakness at the moment is the lack of short interest. Silver: The market was easier on profit-taking after opening strong. Cable received at 11.50 p.m. during our Night Service. "The New York Times" says this morning that a new and far-reaching credit expansion policy is being formulated by the Government. The impression is that an announcement of definite monetary policy is imminent. Karsten Statistical Laboratories Cable: Report that Columbia Gas & Electric is outstanding around a price of 13 and also recommends American Power & Light preferred, Puget Sound Power & Light preferred, United Light preferred and United Gas First preferred at market rates. PENSION TAKEN AWAY

COURT VERDICT AFTER
180 YEARS

Berlin.

A princely pension that should have lasted for eternity has been allowed to lapse by the Supreme Leipzig Court after only 180 years. This is the story:—

In 1746 Landgrave Frederick I of Hesse awarded to his "Chief Inspector of the Salt Mines and his descendants" a perpetual annual pension of 400 thalers (then about £100), for his work at the Salt Mine of Allendorf.

In 1787 Landgrave Frederick II ceremoniously confirmed this award, prescribing that it was to be paid out of the receipts from the salt of Allendorf.

For 120 years the pension was paid. In 1867 Prussia took over the administration of Hesse and continued the payments.

occurred. In 1924 Prussia suspended payments on the ground that the salt mines were no longer being worked.

The descendants of the Salt Inspector brought proceedings. In the local court they were granted payment of a part of the pension, but the state high court threw out their plea.

Now the Supreme Court has finally rejected the claims of the heirs on quoting the 1746 document which says that the payments are to be made from the salt revenues, which are now non-existent.—Reuter.

"THEY TOLD ME
I'D NEVER FIND A CAR LIKE THIS!"

BUILT IN CANADA

I'VE had an extraordinary experience the past few weeks. I've been trying out a number of low-priced automobiles. And I wouldn't be surprised if they have me pegged as a pest in a lot of salesrooms.

They said I was looking for too much for my money . . . that I'd never get the kind of car I specified. But they were wrong. I got a Rockne . . . the low-priced car that's built by Studebaker, you know.

This Rockne is marvelously built for one thing. Everything about its mechanism is solid and strong like an expensive car. That's the thing that impresses you the first minute you drive it. And Studebaker has made sure that Rockne is completely equipped with all the modern advancements—besides upholstering it as richly as though it sold for much more.

TRY A ROCKNE... AND YOU'LL BUY A ROCKNE

MANY a mother has cause to thank Doctor for recommending Ambrosia. This pure Devonshire Milk Food supplies that extra nourishment that Baby must have when breast-feeding fails. Ambrosia is vitamin-rich Devonshire milk exclusively, purified, dried and packed in Devonshire dairies all within a short time of milking. The important vitamins are retained, nothing is added, only water is taken away. By adding hot water to Ambrosia you have instantly, at any time, a supply of delicious creamy Devonshire milk—fresher, many times purer and more easily digested than Grade "A" milk—and much less expensive, too.

H.K.I.A.S.A. AND L/C CAMPBELL

ASSOCIATION MUST REFRAIN FROM ANY SORT OF HASTY DECISION

Lance Corporal W. T. Campbell's participation in the V.R.C. Open Swimming Championships this week appears likely to create a pretty problem, the answer to which the H.K.I.A.S.A., unless they are very careful, may very well have all wrong.

Campbell, it appears, swam in the 880 yards championship without the consent of the H.K.I.A.S.A., to which he is affiliated by reason of his membership of the Y.M.C.A. On the other hand Campbell is also (and primarily) a member of the Army, which is not affiliated to the H.K.I.A.S.A.

The Association consider Campbell has an offence to answer and, it is reported, are going to sit in conclave over the affair.

NOT SO SIMPLE.

But the situation is not quite so simple as this, and the Association will do well to deliberate very thoroughly before taking any high handed action or running their neck into a noose.

Campbell was definitely entered for the V.R.C. Championships by the Army, who owe no allegiance to the Association. The fact that the Army is, like the H.K.I.A.S.A., affiliated to the Home body, in no way gives the Hongkong body jurisdiction over Campbell as an Army swimmer.

Furthermore, I learn unofficially, but on very good authority, that permission for Campbell to participate in the V.R.C. Championships was given by the Army Sports Board of Control in England.

Obviously then the Association cannot deal with Campbell as an individual. He did not swim as an individual competitor, but like Gnr. Ellington, took part as a representative of the Army.

CANNOT VICTIMISE.

The Association might reasonably complain that the Army allowed an affiliated member to compete in championships not recognised as such by the H.K.I.A.S.A., but this bone of contention must be wrangled out with the Army authorities and not with Campbell.

In other words the Association should bear in mind that they have no right to victimise Campbell as an individual or deprive him any privileges he now enjoys as a member of the Association simply because of an action, although contrary to the rules of the H.K.I.A.S.A., over which he had no direct control.

K.C.C. DEVELOPMENT SCHEMES

NEW BOWLING GREEN TO BE CONSIDERED: BADMINTON POSSIBLE THIS WINTER

Developments on quite a big scale were visualised at the annual meeting of the Kowloon Cricket Club yesterday at which the President (His Honour Mr. R. E. Lindell) presided.

Among them were:
A second bowls green
Additional tennis courts, possibly hard courts Improved accommodation for lawn bowlers, and
The introduction of Badminton

The meeting gave a very definite expression of the opinion as to the desirability of the committee considering the development of the club grounds. The subject was introduced by Mr. A. E. Silkestone, who pointed out the real need of a second bowls green and added that there was plenty of available ground for new tennis courts.

BADMINTON LIKELY.

As to whether Badminton becomes a new feature of the club's amenities depends on the report of an expert as to the possible effect of the game on the sprung flooring of the main hall.

A resolution that, subject to this report, the game be introduced this winter, was carried.

STRONG TEAM

BAILEY'S CLEVERNESS

MALCOLM OUT OF TOUCH

POLICE BEATEN BY 8 SHOTS

Seeing that the players almost walked straight from the boat to the green, the Shanghai Interport lawn bowlers yesterday afternoon gave a good account of themselves when they met and defeated the Police in the opening match of the tour.

The team arrived only yesterday morning, but their eagerness to get into contact with local greens and conditions saw them ready and waiting at the Police Recreation Club in the afternoon.

The Hongkong bowlers would do well right now to realise that Tom Main and his men are going to form a very strong combination.

Yesterday's result means nothing; yesterday's play proves nothing. But it did offer some hints and indications, and one could quite fairly obtain impressions as to the possibilities of the visitors.

THE OLD RICHARDS.

For instance Richards appears to have lost none of his cunning, and playing at No. 1 gave a consistently good display. The fact that he had a worthy vis-a-vis in R. Ellis only served to reveal Richards' quick adaptability to comparatively strange conditions.

Bailey too ran into impressive form and his work at No. 3 did much to turn the state of the game in the visitors' favour.

Neither Lopes nor Malcolm, the latter playing as skip found the green with any consistency, but they each enjoyed moments of inspiration.

The Police gave a brave display, especially Moss the skip, who individually outplayed Malcolm on the majority of heads. Ellis too held his own with Richards, but there was a weakness in the middle department, where neither Post nor Mair were up to scratch.

CIVIL SERVICE BOWLS

Handicap Pairs Final

Playing yesterday in the final of the lawn bowls handicap pairs of the Civil Service Cricket Club, J. Pooler and J. M. Parvis defeated J. W. Deakin and D. Collyer by seven shots in 21 heads.

A bombshell was dropped by Henri Cochet, the famous French lawn tennis player, when he said after turning professional.

"It is well known that amateurs to-day are receiving large payments to play in tournaments." Cochet bluntly stated this in announcing his decision to turn professional.

And it was high time that somebody should say it. I am glad that the "somebody" has been Cochet, who is respected the world over for his 100 per cent. amateurism, writes Frank Poxon in the News Chronicle.

He has always played lawn tennis for the love of the game and not for money. And now, frankly and openly, he has come out as a professional.

SHOULD BE PAID OPENLY. Cochet went on to say that everything should be open and above board. He contends that "star" players ought to be paid—but openly.

As they draw the crowds, they are, he thinks, entitled to a share of the gate money. So do I. But not under the existing rules. Everybody with inside knowledge of the facts knows that a large proportion of amateurs get well paid for playing in tournaments.

I could cite a case of a famous player who was given an offer to turn professional. He glanced at the proposed salary and said: "Oh no; I can make more than that as an amateur!" No wonder the word "Shamateurism" has come to be associated with lawn tennis.

OFFICIAL DENIAL "English Amateurs Not Paid"

In a phone conversation with Mr. H. A. Sabelli, the secretary of the Lawn Tennis Association, Frank Poxon drew his attention to Cochet's remarks and he replied:

"I have no hesitation at all in refuting the suggestion that English amateur players are paid for playing in tournaments. I emphasise the word English; what happens in other countries I do not know. The L.T.A. has always interpreted the word 'amateur' in the strictest possible sense."

BOROTRA'S REGRET.

Jean Borotra, interviewed by Reuter, said:

"We shall all regret no longer having Henri as a trump card. It would give me personally as much pleasure to play Henri Cochet professional as Henri Cochet amateur."

"B" DIVISION WON

Great Performance By C.R.C.

Taking eight of the nine sets, the Chinese Recreation Club yesterday defeated the Club de Recreio in their final match of the season and thus won the "B" Division of the lawn tennis league.

This not only means that the C.R.C. have won all three divisions as well as the Mixed Doubles, but defeat has not yet been tasted in 35 matches. The winners of the "A" Division have yet to play a match, but are almost assured of winning, which means that all four champion sides will have gone through the season without a defeat.

As a result of yesterday's game there now remains only two outstanding matches in the "B" Division.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Eddie Cantor in "The Kid from Spain" had to assume importance in production pretty much in the same way that a skyscraper takes on height and size. The big screen musical comedy that brings the heady-eyed comic in company with Lyda Roberti and the famous Goldwyn Girls to the King's Theatre is the work of many hands and minds.

Two years ago, Eddie Cantor and Samuel Goldwyn talked over the idea of having a satire in which Eddie would appear as the pop-eyed Jewish brat from Brooklyn who grew up to become the world's greatest bull-fighter. Vaguely, it had some foundation in the career of Sidney Franklin. They liked the idea, the producer and the star, so Eddie registered it under the title of "The Kid from Spain."

With Lyda Roberti, Ruth Hall, Robert Young, John Miljan and Noah Beery and a cast of a hundred people, the story of "The Kid from Spain" takes Eddie from a girls' dormitory to a bank robbery and a wild tear through the Mexican border, past the emigration officials disguised as Don Sebastian II, the famous matador, into amazing complications.

Busby Berkeley created and designed the dances and the ensembles; Richard Day planned and executed the elaborate scenic effects and details of background.

"Gabriel Over The White House"

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is to be congratulated on the handling of the difficult theme of a President of the United States faced with the current problems of unemployment, racketeering, prohibition and world disarmament. Walter Huston enacts the President who comes to the White House as a bluffing, back-slapping, sincere politician and subsequently meets with an accident which changes him almost overnight into a man of integrity, resourcefulness and the iron ability to take control of a baffling series of obstacles involved in the chaos of a nation plunged into economic uncertainty, riddled by gangsters and thwarted in its demand for payment of European debts.

"The Good Companions" All who have "travelled the road" with Inigo Jollifant, Jess Oakroyd, Morton Mitcham, and a host of other merry "vagabonds," and have followed the fortunes of Susie Dean with keen interest, will learn with pleasure that these lovable characters of J. B.

Priestley's famous novel, "The Good Companions," come to life in a magnificent talking picture to be seen at the King's Theatre next week.

The initial screening of "The Good Companions" was accorded the gracious patronage of Their Majesties the King and Queen. It was, in fact, the King's first talkie brought to a happy climax a production rightly regarded as the most ambitious directorial effort from any British studio. As a novel Mr. Priestley's epic has added to the enjoyment of many thousands at home and abroad; as a stage play, "The Good Companions" was brought even more vividly to life, but it is only just to assert that the screen version, unhindered by the limitations of the footlight, brings to a famous work of fiction a new and stirring vivid interpretation.

Seldom has a great novel been translated to the screen with such meticulous regard for atmosphere. This epic story of a troupe of entertainers, their ups and downs, their loves and hates, their striving and contriving, make it the most fascinating picture in the world. "The Good Companions," in fact, is vibrant life translated to celluloid for the entertainment of millions to whom the wonders of the story have yet to be made known.

The leading players are Jessie Matthews, John Gielgud, Edmund Gwenn, A. W. Backcomb, and Mary Glynn.

PARIS SILK STORE

"HOUSE OF FASHION"

China Building, Queen's Road Central.
29th September, 1933.

TO LADIES WHO PREFER SMALL SHOP BARGAINS.

There are certain things we refuse to sell. Naturally we like sales to increase turnover, and this is done by applying the smallest margin of profit. Of course, to achieve this, the unconditional confidence of our customers is absolutely imperative.

We are not criticising other silk stores, but we do know our own stocks and we are eager to tell you all about the materials we import from different parts of the world.

The intelligent buying of silks and hosiery is our aim, and we indicate to purchasers which are the right types of products to ensure full value for money spent.

We refuse to believe that smaller shops sell cheaper than we do, for our profits are not made from our customers, but from the large booking of exchange at favourable rates, and our business of Colombo Jewellery stores. Our power of purchase from the actual manufacturers is much greater than the average shop, and this is why we can defy the various forms of competition. Our prices are absolutely uniform, and we do not vary them according to the class of customer.

Very Truly Yours,
For Better Silks,
PARIS SILK STORE,
V. S. C. SINGHAM,
Manager.

WORLD CRISIS A WAY OUT

By FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

Mr. Cope's striking articles on the world economic crisis which were recently published in the Hongkong Telegraph are now available in pamphlet form.

One of the features, repaying study, is the close similarity between the plan of reform suggested by this local writer, and certain aspects of the Roosevelt recovery programme. The author's ideas are naturally far too advanced for active promotion at the present time, but they are particularly interesting in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, in striking out on a path of his own, has travelled in the same direction.

The pamphlet is one of forty-four pages and can be obtained from the South China Morning Post at a cost of—

BLACK YEAR

DR. KOO'S ADDRESS TO THE LEAGUE

Geneva, Sept. 29.
Addressing the League Assembly to-day, Dr. Wellington Koo said that measured by the success or failure of its efforts in the political sphere, the past year must be considered the most disillusioning one for the League since its establishment. This disillusionment China, a victim of armed aggression by another member of the League, shares very keenly, he declared.
The initial act of undeclared war took place on September 18, 1931, Dr. Koo continued. Seventeen months later the League Assembly pronounced its verdict, and the report was accepted by all members of the League, that Japan's occupation of the Three Eastern Provinces was a violation of the League Covenant, the Pact of Paris and the Nine-Power Pact. Japan, attacked and occupied Jehol, threatening the security of Peking and Tientsin. China, rallying all available resources, was unable to check single-handed the onslaught of the invaders and, after fifty days' bitter struggle, in which she lost 30,000 dead and wounded, was obliged to sign a truce at Tangku on May 31, 1933. Although the Japanese troops had since gradually withdrawn from the neighbourhood of Tientsin and Peking, the Eastern Provinces still remained in their occupation, contrary to Article X of the League Covenant.

China determined to maintain all her rights and claims not to recognise or acquiesce in an illegal and accomplished fact. China considers she is not only endeavouring to preserve her territorial integrity but is resisting an attempt to convert the Covenant into a scrap of paper. That attempt is now taking the form of extremely strong pressure to induce China to abandon her policy of co-operation with the League and adopt the principal of Asia for the Asiatics. Juridically the situation was unchanged and the Covenant must be upheld. It was to be regretted that the unanimous report of the Special Assembly had not yet been carried out.

"If the Covenant is a scrap of paper East of Suez, how can it become a reality in Europe?" Dr. Koo demanded.
He went on to say that this glaring case of the breaking of the Covenant would prove an insurmountable obstacle, or at least a stumbling block, to new international agreements aiming at economic and military disarmament or the maintenance of peace.

REBEL ATTACK

FANG CHEN-WU IN PEKING AREA?

Peking, Sept. 29.
A Chinese bulletin issued late this evening indicates that some of General Fang Chen-wu's troops are still in the demilitarised zone.
The bulletin says that General Fang's men, who made an unsuccessful attack on Kaoliang this morning, were bombed by Japanese planes and retreated into the hills seven miles north of Kaoliang. The main body, however, scattered, and is fleeing west to Changping, whence they expect to re-enter Charhar.
Prisoners arriving here say that before starting south, General Fang Chen-wu addressed his soldiers, saying he had established an understanding with the military and police in Peking and Tientsin, as well as with the Japanese, and expected to spend the Mid-Autumn Festival in Peking. His troops failed to realise they had been misled when they were intercepted by Government troops at Kaoliang and Tangshan and bombed by Japanese planes.
A Chinese report states that four Japanese planes bombed concentrations of General Chi Hung-chang's troops at Tangshan this morning and scattered them. Four bombs landed in Tangshan Park, destroying many buildings but no casualties were suffered.—Reuter.

COTTON ARRIVES.

FIRST SHIPMENT FOR CHINESE GOVERNMENT

Shanghai, Sept. 29.
A shipment of 11,000 bales of American cotton arrived in Shanghai this morning.
This is the first lot of the American cotton purchased from the American Loan to China to arrive.—Reuter.

arising on the international horizon in the Far East. An armaments race had begun, with huge naval and air manoeuvres, fleet concentrations and enormous war expenditure. All the signs in the Far East pointed to a major conflict within a few years, he said.

China, however, still believes in the soundness of the fundamental aims and purposes of the League. "We have arrived at the crossroads of the world's destiny and the choice lies between an armed peace and a peace of collective responsibility which accepts justice for the sake of civilisation and humanity. I hope we shall all choose wisely," Dr. Koo concluded.—Reuter.

CEYLON GOVERNOR DIES AT ADEN

Aden, Sept. 29.
Sir Graeme Thomson, G.C.M.G., K.C.B., C.B., Governor and Commander-in-Chief at Ceylon since 1931, died here to-day.
Sir Graeme disembarked from the P. and O. liner Carthage because of illness while on his way home. He died of cerebral embolism.
Sir Graeme was buried this afternoon, with full military honours.—Reuter.
Educated for the law, Sir Graeme entered the Admiralty in 1900 and was made Assistant Director of Transports in 1914. In December of the same year he became Director of this important service, with the nation at war. In 1917 he was made Director of Shipping and served in this capacity for the duration of the War.
In 1919 he was made Colonial Secretary for Ceylon, and administered the Government from March to September in 1920. He was Governor of British Guiana, 1922-25; Governor of Nigeria, 1925-31; and went to Ceylon in this capacity from Nigeria.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

I cannot warn you too often about being careful to analyze a hand before playing to the first trick. When your opponent makes the opening lead and the dummy goes down count up your sure tricks, and if they add up to one or two less than the contract needed, then your problem is to try to find a home for losing cards.

Following is one of the hands selected from the final session of the National Masters Contract Pair championship event at the recent tournament of the American Bridge League at Asbury Park.

Mr. Henry P. Jaeger of Cleveland, Ohio, past president of the organization, received top score on the board as he arrived at the proper declaration and then his opponents, unfortunately for them, doubled. By conserving his entries and finding a home for a losing card Mr. Jaeger was able to make his contract.

The Bidding

South bid one club. West doubled. North passed and East bid one spade. Mr. Jaeger in the South bid three clubs. West bid three spades and North passed, as did East. Mr. Jaeger went to five clubs, which West doubled.

The Play

The only lead that will defeat the contract is the club opening. However, the natural opening would be a spade or a diamond.

When the ace of spades was opened, East dropped the nine, encouraging his partner to continue. West continued with another spade.

♠ J-5	♥ J-10-6-3-2	♦ 6-4-2	♣ K-7-4
♠ A-Q-8-7-2	♥ A-Q-9	♦ J-10-9-3	♣ J
♠ A-K	♥ A-K-8	♦ A-Q-10-9-8-6-5-2

East played the king, and now Mr. Jaeger was careful not to trump with his deuce of clubs—he must ruff with at least the five spot. His next day was the king of hearts, which West won with the ace.

Mr. Jaeger had already lost a spade and a heart; he still had a losing diamond and his only chance to make his contract was to establish a heart in dummy on which to discard his losing diamond.

The jack of diamonds was played by West and Mr. Jaeger won it with the ace. He then played his eight of clubs, and when West played the jack, the trick was won in dummy with the king. A small heart was led and trumped by the declarer with the nine of clubs.

Mr. Jaeger's next play was the deuce of clubs, winning in dummy with the four. Another heart was led and the declarer trumped with the ten of clubs.

West's queen dropped on this trick and now all that Mr. Jaeger had to do was to lead the six of clubs, win in dummy with the seven and discard his losing diamond on dummy's good jack of hearts. His contract of five clubs doubled was thus made.

NANKING SPLIT?

RUMOUR IN SHANGHAI CAUSES CONCERN

Shanghai, Sept. 29. Surprise and dismay were created here this afternoon by the publication by the Shanghai Evening Post and Mercury of rumours from Nanking to the effect that General Chiang Kai-shek, Mr. T. V. Soong and Mr. Wang Ching-wei were about to resign on account of their conflicting views with regard to finance and China's policy towards Japan.

It was stated that Mr. Wang Ching-wei was coming to Shanghai by the night express from Nanking.

Mr. Soong, however, specially interviewed, denied the story and declared that Mr. Wang was remaining in Nanking. So far as he and General Chiang were concerned, he knew they had no thought of resigning; nor had he himself.

JEWISH DENTIST IN NAIROBI WARNED

Nairobi, Sept. 29.
A Jewish dentist, Dr. Samuel Weinstock, was bound over to keep the peace for a period of three months for sitting on the flag which was attached to the German Consulate in Nairobi here.

insignia, was fluttering from the front of the machine and Weinstock demanded that the Consul remove it. Thereafter, he spat upon it.
The Magistrate who heard the case declared that he appreciated Weinstock's feelings but warned him that such actions would not be permitted in a civilised community, as they were likely to lead to a breach of the peace.
The court paid a tribute to the German Consul for the restraint he had shown.—Reuters.

POPULAR TREASURY BILLS

APPLICATION FOR
£93,880,000

London, Sept. 28.
At to-day's sale of tenders of Treasury bills, £93,880,000 was applied for and the amount allotted in bills at three months was £46,000,000.

The average rate of discount was 12/4.61d. as compared with 4/0.15d. week ago. Last week's was the lowest discount rate on record, and this week's was the highest since February.

Bills sold last week, however,
were exceptionally popular,
maturity falling due for payment towards the end of December when money is usually in abnormally keen demand.—British Wireless.

ANGLO-FINNISH TRADE

AGREEMENT SIGNED
AT HELSINGFORS

London, Sept. 29.
The Anglo-Finnish trade agreement was signed at Helsingfors this afternoon. The terms of the agreement will be made public shortly. The conclusion of the agreement marks a further stage in the British Government's trade policy which has been followed since the Ottawa Conference when trade relations within the Empire were placed on a new basis.

Agreements have now been completed with Germany, Denmark,
Norway, Sweden and Finland.
Negotiations with several other countries are in immediate contemplation.—British Wireless.

DEATH OF GOVERNOR OF CEYLON

KING'S MESSAGE TO LADY THOMPSON

London, Sept. 29.

The Secretary for Colonies, Sir
Philip Cunliffe Lister, has received telegram announcing the death of Sir Graeme Thompson, Governor of Ceylon, while on his way to England.

The King has sent a message of sympathy to Lady Thompson in his own and the Queen's name.

Sir Philip Cunliffe Lister, in a message of condolence, says that Lady Thompson's bereavement is shared by His Majesty's Government and the country which has lost an experienced public servant.

The news has been received with universal regret in Ceylon.

During the war, Sir Graeme
Thompson, as Director of Transports, displayed remarkable powers of organisation which were invaluable to the British Forces.

In 1917, he was appointed to the additional post of Director of Shipping.—British Wireless.
